SUGGESTS BREAKWATER TO PROTECT WHARF

Pearkes Urges Speed On Wharf Repairs

Major-General Pearkes, V.C., M.P., urged last week in The Commons in Ottawa that work on the Sidney wharf be proceeded with at the earliest opportunity. An appropriation of $38,000 has been approved for the reconstruction of approach and repairs to ferry slip at the wharf.

General Pearkes pointed out that traffic to the port has been growing considerably every year. Not only does it relieve congestion in Victoria but it is the shortest sea journey between the Island of Vancouver and the mainland of the province. Gen. Pearkes also told of the communication between Sidney and the Gulf Islands.

"The fact that the great terminal of the T.C.A. is only a mile away at Patricia Bay enhances the importance of this particular port," he said.

MOOTS PROTECTIVE BREAKWATER

The suggestion that a breakwater be constructed, in order that this work may be of a permanent nature and not have to be repaired every year, was made by General Pearkes.

"It would be most desirable to construct a breakwater just to the south of where the ferry approach now is," he said.

He urged that the Minister of Public Works have the situation reviewed during the coming year, with the idea of seeing whether it would not be possible to erect the breakwater.

FLORISTS VISIT BULB FARMS HERE

Bulb farming operations at the P. Crampin Bulb Farm were shown more than 135 delegates to the Allied Florists and Growers of Canada, last week, when they spent Wednesday on a tour of Saanich Peninsula.

The tour was sponsored by bulb and seed growers, florists, greenhouse operators and nurserymen.

The delegates, many of them eastern buyers, were given an opportunity to witness the growing end of the business here, which has been flourishing in past years. They saw various bulb-lifting machines demonstrated.

In the evening, the delegates attended a dinner at the Dominion Experimental Station at Saanichton. Ray Woolridge, president of the British Columbia Bulb Growers' Federation, was master of ceremonies. E. R. Hall, assistant superintendent, welcomed them to the Experimental Station, and Hon. Norman Whitaker, K.C., to the island.

E. W. White, district horticulturist and A. J. Hourston of the Provincial Department of Agriculture, showed the visitors motion pictures of bulb and seed production in British Columbia.

WINS "DIGEST" ANNUAL AWARD

Barbara Metcalfe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Metcalfe, Vesuvius Bay, and valedictorian of the graduating class at Salt Spring Island school, has been given the second annual award of the "Reader's Digest" Association. The award is given to students who, by their successful school work, give promise of attaining leadership in the community. It was announced by John B. Poulister, principal.

The recipient will receive an honorary subscription to the "Reader's Digest" for one year and an engraved certificate from the editor "In recognition of past accomplishment and in anticipation of unusual achievement to come."

District Schools Promotion Lists

Friday witnessed the closing of district schools for the current year. Final reports were issued, indicating the standing of the students for the next year.

NORTH SAANICH HIGH SCHOOL

The following students were awarded High School Graduation certificates: Denis Bailey, Beatrice Cook, Sheila Dignan, June Harrison, Evelyn Jack, Edna John, Dorcas Munro, John Newell, Elizabeth Bell, Margaret Viller, Nanette Woods.

In addition to the above, the following grade 11 students are writing department examinations: Lilian Bailey, Alan Basher, Sheila Bushey, John Christian, Patricia Dignan, Fred Gane, Joyce Godfrey, Gladys Hanson, Ronald Harrison, David Hedblom, Edwin North, Arthur John, Winifred Lee, Ian MacKenzie, Mary McLennan, Joan Newton, Rose Nunn, Victor Palmer, Simon Pearson.

SKIES HUM AT AIRPORT AS PLANES ARRIVE

Skies over Sidney were dotted with small aircraft on Saturday when the second annual international flight of the Aircraft Owners' and Pilots' Association flew here for a one-day visit.

Poor flying weather cut down the number of planes to arrive, but many fliers from United States and Canadian points made the trip.

The control tower at Patricia Bay base was a hive of industry. Every precaution was made to safeguard the many landings. Senior flight control officer, F. O. J. P. H. Evans, noted the differences in bringing in planes with no radio equipment. Colored lights are used to safely land unequipped aircraft.

The R.C.A.F. radar was also in operation throughout the day in case assistance was needed. Eight St. John Ambulance were on hand, a nurse and medical supplies.

Visiting fliers were taken to lunch in Victoria. A side trip to Butchart's Gardens was also arranged.

Large Skate Creates Interest At Roberts Bay

Measuring five feet in length, with a span of four feet, a skate created some interest on Tuesday morning at Roberts Bay, at the end of Third Street. First noticed by Mrs. H. Stacey, the fish was stranded by the extremely low tide. Mr. Stacey and the children dragged the fish to deep water and liberated it.

Plan Fall Fair At Mayne Island

After a lapse during the war years, the annual Mayne Island Fall Fair will again be held this year, on August 20.

Officers for the fair as follows: President, C. Murrell; vice-president, W. Greene; secretary, Mrs. A. Horton; directors: Mrs. C. Jones, Mrs. W. Haglund, R. Aitken and Mrs. Foster.

Many exhibits are anticipated in all classes in the popular fair. Livestock, produce, fruit and vegetables are under the direction of W. Greene. Mr. Aitken is in charge of the floral section, and Mrs. W. Haglund, domestic science. Mrs. C. Jones will look after Division 4, needlework and knitting. Mrs. M. Foster heads the arts and crafts division.

A prize list, now available, gives promise of one of the best fairs the Mayne Island Association has yet planned.

DOMINION DAY, 1947

For the eightieth year the nation of Canada celebrates July 1 as Dominion Day. Minor ripples in the deep, sound stream of national life give a temporary diversion to Canadians. One such ripple is the current debate concerning a national flag. Most favoured suggestion to date appears to be the Red Ensign, shown above.

Strike Averted As Fishermen Accept Packers New Prices

All locals with the exception of one, voted to accept the offer of the packers this week. A special meeting of the Sidney local of the U.F.A.W.U., held at the home of J. Reitan, president of the local, agreed to accept. Prices offered were one-half cent per pound increase for the price of pinks and chums and one and one-half cents per pound increase for coho over last year's prices.

Acceptance averted a tie-up of more than 4,000 union gill netters.

The sockeye salmon season opened on June 29 for northern B.C. waters. Fraser River fishing, controlled by the International Pacific Salmon Fisheries Commission, will be closed for sockeye nets until September 8 of this year, according to Gordon J. Reid, of the Sidney union.

SPRING SALMON RUNNING IN LOCAL WATERS

Indications that the spring salmon are frequenting these waters were given over the week-end when several fine catches were made. From Holder's Boat House on Sunday, Harry Tudor captured a 12-pound lighter. On Saturday, Sam McClure hooked a 30-pounder. Both fish were caught off the Beacon in Saanich Inlet at Deep Cove.

From Randall's Landing, on the Swartz Bay Road, Allen Clegg and party returned on Sunday with a 24-pound and a 22-pound fish.

V.I. BOARDS MOVE TO BAN TRAWL FISHING IN INSIDE WATERS

Claiming that "trawl gear has been developed and employed to the point that great destruction of immature fish has resulted," members of the Associated Boards of Trade of Vancouver Island will seek to have trawl fishing prohibited in inside B.C. coastal waters.

The group noted on a resolution from the Nanaimo Board of Trade. They met last week at Courtenay.

It was requested of the government "that the use of trawls be prohibited in the inside B.C. coastal waters until such times as the Pacific Biological Board shall have determined, through constant and progressive research, that sufficient natural restocking has taken place to permit once again a moderate and controlled degree of this type of fishing."

THE WEATHER

The following is the meteorological record for week ending June 29, furnished by Dominion Experimental Station:

Maximum temperature	73
Minimum temperature	44
Minimum on the grass	39
Sunshine (hours)	50.0
Rainfall (inches)	0.13

Grading, Widening, Surfacing on Harbour Road

Work crews of the Department of Public Works are busy graveling and grading Harbour Road, Sidney. Present plans call for the graveling and surfacing of the much-used roadway.

Two Students Cross Gulf in Small Boat

Leaving the Marine Basin in North Vancouver at 9 a.m. Friday, J. Tothill and J. Wilson, both of North Vancouver, arrived at Whalers Bay, Galiano Island, at 3.30 o'clock in the afternoon.

The two high school students travelled in a 14-foot inboard motorboat and thoroughly enjoyed the passage.

The Gulf was calm and kind that day and they had a smooth, uneventful crossing.

Land Machinery At Gossip Island

Machinery said to be valued at $85,000 was landed at Gossip Island early last week by the Maple Grove Lumber Co., for use in the mill there. Included in the shipment was a lighting plant and some derricks.

It has not yet been announced when the mill will start operation.

ROTARIANS HEAR MESSAGE FROM KINSMEN PREXY

Herbert Sabiston, president of the Victoria Kinsmen Club, spoke briefly at the Rotary dinner on Wednesday when he explained some of the work done by his organization in Victoria.

The Kinsmen Club is the only Canadian service club with an age limit of 40. One of the principal objectives is to teach young men the responsibilities of community life and to prepare them and enable them to take an active part in the building of that community. The club celebrated its 25th anniversary last May. From a small beginning the club now numbers more than 7,000 members in Canada. Of the 30 clubs in B.C., with 1,200 members, the speaker pointed out their splendid record in such drives as the Milk for Britain Fund.

"The effort was a really great success, and much good work was done for the suffering in Britain," said Mr. Sabiston.

Frank Stenton, president of the Rotary Club, thanked the speaker.

Alfred Cross, Lethbridge, and A. Brown, Deep Cove, were also introduced as "old friends." Both men are frequent visitors to the local group.

PIONEER RESIDENT, C. MOSES, DIES AFTER SHORT ILLNESS

Christopher Moses, who was born in Victoria on November 20, 1870, and who was brought to his present farm in Deep Cove ten days afterwards, died at Rest Haven on Monday after a short illness.

He is survived by three children, Miss Grace E. Moses, at home; Mrs. Irene Fredette, at home; and Daniel David Moses, Victoria; and two grandchildren, Loree Moses and Frances Fredette. His wife predeceased him 13 years ago.

A lifelong resident of the district, Mr. Moses was keenly interested in community affairs and in agriculture. In his early years he specialized in the breeding of purebred Clydesdale horses and Hackneys. He also raised many fine Shorthorn cattle on his 550-acre farm.

Moses Point in Saanich Inlet is named after his father who arrived in the district 81 years ago, before Confederation.

His close friends, the Wain family and the Downey family, both famous place-names in the district, have both removed from North Saanich.

Miss Grace Moses, whose herd of 40 Jersey cattle has attracted much interest in shows in the district, was always encouraged and assisted by her father. Mr. Moses was for 23 years a school trustee for the district. He was also a councillor on the municipal council when the area was incorporated. A past president of the North Saanich Liberal Club, he held many offices as director of district exhibitions and fairs.

In his youth an extremely strong man, the story is told of his prowess at wrestling and flat-cuffs. At one of the frequent picnics a city man from Victoria arrived, fresh in his tightly fitting coat and trousers. The newcomer issued a challenge to the "country bumpkins" for a boxing match. The call went out for "Chris Moses" as the chosen representative for the district. The lads of the picnic formed a square and the match was on.

One blow was struck, and that by Chris Moses, and the fight was over. It was said that the local lads ran for the

Pictorial Record of Schools Creates Much Interest

Organized by the Salt Spring Island School Board, assisted by the teachers and attended by Superintendent of Education Col. F. T. Fairey and Registrar T. F. Robson, Inspector of Schools J. E. Brown and Mrs. Brown, and Miss Orr, inspector of home economics classes,

Asks That Berry Pickers' Children Be Left at Home

The fact that young children when left to their own fancy, tend to run amok in a strange place and do damage was mentioned this week by C. M. Smith, supervisor for Dominion-Provincial Farm Labour Service.

In an appeal for pickers to leave their children at home, Mr. Smith gave two reasons. Bus companies receive complaints from regular paying passengers when the morning buses are filled with non-paying children.

When on the farms, the children tend to run loose and sometimes do damage. It is hard for the farmer, badly in need of pickers, to speak up, hence the appeal by Mr. Smith. It is only the very young, he emphasized, who seem to get into trouble. Older children often are most helpful for both farmer and picker.

The season for loganberries is now well under way.

FORSTER BROTHERS OPEN BARBER SHOP

The Forster brothers have opened a barber shop in the store formerly occupied by the Bus Depot on Beacon Avenue.

It is understood that a billiard table will be added later in the rear of the shop.

SHORTAGE OF DREDGES HERE

M.P.'S SHOW NEED FOR DREDGES ON PACIFIC COAST

Ferry Traffic Record Likely This Year

Officials of the Canadian Customs at Port of Sidney look for a record in traffic from the United States this year.

Figures for June automobile traffic from Anacortes show that more cars entered in June of this year through Sidney than in July of last year.

Well over 50 cars a day now enter through this port.

Both C. Gibson (Comox-Alberni) and Maj.-General G. R. Pearkes (Nanaimo), spoke up in the House of Commons last week for dredges for B.C. coastal waters.

Mr. Gibson queried the Minister of Public Works concerning the shortage and wondered if the department had any plans for new equipment.

Mr. Fournier replied that as construction of dredges would take some time, and that the work is pressing, the work would be done by contract.

General Pearkes again brought up the need for dredging in harbours in his constituency. With only two dredges for the whole Pacific coast while there are approximately 17 dredges available in other parts of Canada, he pondered his silted harbours.

Legion Council Adopt Local Immigration Plan

Approval was given last Thursday by the Victoria and District Zone Council of the Canadian Legion, of an immigration policy outlined by the Saanich Peninsula branch.

Stating that it was generally agreed that Canada, with its vast territories and natural resources needs a greater population than that of natural increase, the zone council adopted the local policy.

It is understood that loyal services will be held on Friday.

District Men Receive Awards

Among the 112 recipients to whom invitations were extended to attend the Dominion Day Investiture at Government House were Sgt. E. C. Reid of Saanich, who received the British Empire medal and Major P. W. Nelson, Sidney, who was awarded the M.B.E.

Capt. A. H. Stephenson, of Brentwood college also received his M.B.E.

SAVED FROM THE OVERLOAD

SPORTS DAY AT GANGES TAXES FERRY "CY PECK'S" CAPACITY

A party of about 45 school children, parents and friends awaited the arrival of the ferry "Cy Peck" last Wednesday at Galiano Island to attend the school sports at Ganges. As Galiano was the last port of call and the ferry could only take so many passengers to complete his maximum load, some eight disappointed passengers were left on the Galiano wharf, to watch the ferry pull out.

The day was saved by Miss Ethel Clarkson, skipper of the "Islander," who picked up the over-looked and got them to Ganges in plenty of time for the sports.

“PEUTETRE”-S’NIZE!

The French—Ah,
The Perfume

France's two billion franc pre-war perfume industry didn't suffer too much during the years of occupation, according to Leonce E. J. Bois, writing in Drug Merchandising. It was only slowed down, and has already speeded up again to its 1938 production tempo. France is already in a position to supply world markets with suggestive scents all the way from “Peutetre” to “Scandale.”

Grasse in southern France is the center of the perfume world, says the druggists' business magazine. It is so because of a climate and soil that grows jasmine and May roses like nowhere else on earth.

Into the rare and subtle scents go musk from the glands of the Tibetan kid, civet from the Abyssinian cat, ambergris from whales' stomachs, extracts from assorted trees, plants and flowers, and special odorless French fruit alcohol. It's all very complicated, and high-priced—jasmine comes at approximately $3,750 per kilogram (2.2 lbs.). But the ladies love the result—and the men love the ladies, according to French perfume-makers' labels.

MORE FURNACES,
BATHTUBS, SINKS,
PIPE, THIS YEAR

Production of plumbing and heating equipment and supplies in Canada this year will be the greatest in history, according to the Canadian Institute of Plumbing and Heating.

Approximately 72,000 furnaces will be made in Canada this year. This is about 80 per cent over 1939 production. Last year 60,000 furnaces were made.

An average increase of 66 per cent over the pre-war peak is expected in all equipment, pipe and fittings.

FIRST RADIO-CONTROLLED PROJECTILE

The first United Kingdom pilotless radio-controlled rocket missile which has been under secret development for 18 months has now successfully completed a full range flight trial. This new missile has been designed and developed by an aviation firm in Britain. It has been developed to the stage where a controller on the ground can exercise full flight control and pass the pilotless missile through a predetermined program of aerial manoeuvres.

Using four 76-pound thrust rockets, the maximum speed is far in excess of 500 miles per hour. Smaller rockets (of 40 pounds each) give a top speed of 350 miles per hour. It is of orthodox monoplane design. Its fuselage is cylindrical, 7 feet 5 inches long and 12 1/2 inches in diameter. The nose is streamlined in accordance with orthodox ballistic principles. The tail end of the fuselage is untapered and open-ended to allow egress for gas from venturist of main rocket motor assembly. The main plane, comprised of port and starboard wings, is set in mid wing position with a total span of 6 feet 10 inches. The tail plane which is similar in plan to the main plane has a span of four feet.

first mixture. Beat with a dover beater (this batter is very thin). Pour into a 7" by 7" pan, and bake in a slow oven (325°F.) for 45 minutes or until done. Top with crushed berries and whipped cream or serve with fresh fruit.

Retail Trade Good,
Buyers More Choosy

The following condensed summary of business in British Columbia is compiled from the report of the Bank of Montreal.

Retail trade continues in good volume, but buyers are showing more discrimination. Collections are reported somewhat slower. Manufacturing and industrial plants are busy. There is a marked tendency to defer building projects owing to increased costs. Shipyards are well occupied with repairs and overhauls, construction of small pleasure craft, and contracts previously let. Timber scaled in April totalled 388,000 M feet, as compared with 291,447 M feet in April, 1946. For the four-week period to June 7, lumber mills operated at an average of 87.5% of normal capacity, whereas during the same period last year they were idle due to the woodworkers' strike. Halibut landed at Pacific Coast ports from areas two and three from May 1 to 31 totalled 19,166,000 lbs., of which 11,446,000 lbs. were Canadian and 7,720,000 lbs. American, as compared with 9,652,000 lbs. Canadian and 13,736,000 lbs. American for the same period in 1946. Coal production for the month of April was 114,937 tons, as compared with 120,814 tons in April, 1946. Prospects for a good fruit crop continue favorable. Grain shipments from the Port of Vancouver to date total 50,023,580 bushels, as compared with 57,738,662 bushels for the same period last year.

St. Andrew's Sunday School Hold Picnic

An excellent attendance marked the annual Sunday School picnic of St. Andrew's Sunday School on Saturday, June 28, at the Dominion Experimental Farm. Sports, including baseball, sack races and other novelty races, occupied the children during the afternoon. Ice cream, soft drinks and other refreshments were served. Among those assisting at the picnic were Mrs. Slater, Mrs. Beswick, Mrs. Sullivan, Mr. Yeomans and Rev. Roy Melville.

Desserts Made With Ease

Although in most parts of the country it did not look as if summer would ever arrive this year, it has come finally, of course, and has brought with it the first of the garden fruits and vegetables. When we think of summer desserts, we naturally think of fruits. This is the time of the year when one feels able to really relax a little where desserts are concerned and serve as much fruits as possible, either fresh or made into light, hot-weather appealing puddings, shortcakes and so on. A dessert that can be prepared in a jiffy is most certainly what the busy housewife prefers at any time of the year but this is especially so in summer for no one wants to spend hours in the kitchen when the outdoors are temptingly calling. Many desserts which give the impression of having required skill and time can be made practically at a moment's notice if some of the preparation has been taken care of in advance, say on a rainy day or when you feel specially energetic and in a mood to do a lot of work.

One thing that the home economists of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture recommend as a good time saver, is a large quantity batch of baking powder mix. This mix stores well if kept in a cool place; either a covered bowl or a glass sealer, which takes up less space, may be used for the purpose. The mix contains all the ingredients but the liquid, which is added when you want to make up the biscuits. Instead of making the regular tea biscuits, this mixture may be used for shortcake, rye-poly, quantity tea pie.

QUANTITY TEA BISCUIT MIX
8 cups sifted, all-purpose flour or 9 cups pastry flour
6 tablespoons baking powder
1 1/2 tablespoons salt
1 cup lard or other shortening

Sift dry ingredients together three times. Cut in fat with two knives or a pastry blender until the mixture resembles fine bread crumbs. Store in covered container in the refrigerator or other cool place.

For following recipes, allow 2/3 cups of sweet milk or water (at room temperature) for two cups of biscuit mix. Stir well. Toss onto a floured board and knead lightly for a few seconds.

Fruit Roly-Poly—Roll lightly on a floured board to 1/3 inch thickness. Combine finely cut fruit with sugar and a small amount of flour. Spread the mixture on rolled out dough. Roll like a jelly roll, place in a greased loaf pan and bake in a hot oven, 425°F., for 15 minutes.

Topping for Deep Fruit Pie—Leave whole or cut with biscuit cutter and place over fruit sweetened to taste and bake in a hot oven, 400°F., for 25 to 30 minutes. Shortcake Base—Pat or roll out 1/4 to 3/8 inch thick, cut with cookie cutter or leave whole, either in a square or a round shape. Bake on an ungreased sheet in a hot oven, 400°F., for 12 to 15 minutes.

GLAMOUR SHORTCAKE
Glazed baked biscuit, spread with crushed fruit, put together and ice with a fluffy meringue.

FLUFFY MERINGUE
2 egg whites
Dash of salt
2 tablespoons sugar
Add salt to egg whites and beat until stiff but not dry. Gradually beat in the sugar. Top shortcake with meringue and bake in a moderately slow oven, 325°F., until meringue is delicately browned. Serve with additional fruit.

HOT MILK SPONGE CAKE
2 eggs
3/4 cup white sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup pastry flour
1 cup milk
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup scalded milk
1/2 cup sugar
Beat the eggs until very light, adding the sugar gradually, then add the vanilla. Sift in dry ingredients. Scald the milk in a double boiler, add the butter, stir until butter is melted and add to

BIOLOGISTS UNABLE TO OFFER PLAN TO WIPE OUT JAP WEED

Hopes of members of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association and the inlet's professional guides for a method to rid the sport fishing waters of the troublesome Jap weed, were shattered this week following receipt of a letter from R. E. Forster, director of the Dominion Biological Station, Nanaimo, pertaining to the subject.

The station director's letter was a reply to an appeal sent by the anglers' secretary asking officials of the station if they could recommend a scheme to eliminate the weed.

"So far as we know, there is no way of eradicating this seaweed other than actually going out and removing it from the water.

"In due course the plants will break up and disappear for the balance of the season, but it will likely reappear next year," the director said.

He goes on to point out that any methods of eradication used involving chemicals would undoubtedly also be harmful to other seaweed, to marine life in the water and to fish and therefore could not be employed.

RECEIVE FINE IN SIDNEY POLICE COURT

F. McNutt, McTavish Road, appearing before F. J. Baker, J.P., on Friday evening received a fine of $10 and $2.50 costs for infraction of driving regulations. The McNutt car was in collision with a motorcycle driven by Bruce Law on Sunday, June 22, in Sidney.

SUGGESTS CUTTING OVERHEAD OF LEPER COLONY BY MERGING TWO

High costs in maintaining two leper colonies which house a total of only 10 occupants were discussed in Ottawa last week.

Major-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., M.P., suggested that costs of the stations could be cut if the three occupants housed at Bentinck Island, William Head, near Victoria, be moved to the other station at Tracadie, in New Brunswick, where there are seven occupants, or bring the Tracadie patients to Bentinck Island.

The Dominion is spending $6,575 for repairs and improvements at Bentinck Island this year. Annual upkeep at Bentinck is $5,000 a year.

The minister of public works said that General Pearkes' suggestion was "very sensible."

Opens Antique Shop On Beacon Avenue

Indicative of the growing importance of Sidney as a shopping centre is the opening of the Antique Shop at 262 Beacon Avenue this week, by Mrs. C. McMicken. For many years Mrs. McMicken lived abroad, both in Europe and the Orient, she has long been interested in antiques and fine china and has an excellent knowledge of the subject.

The shop will be housed in the building formerly occupied by Simister's Drygoods, open beams and attractive interior lend a fitting background to the display of interesting objects d'art now on view.

The new shop will be opened as Mayfair Shop.

May Resume Trade With Japanese

Private commercial relations with Japan may be resumed on August 15, 1947, according to an announcement by the Supreme Commander of the Allied Powers (S.C.A.P.). Since the end of the war, trade has been conducted on a government - to - government basis, the Canadian Commercial Corporation being Canada's accredited agent.

Because of the shortage of suitable accommodation, only 400 businessmen from the member nations of the Far Eastern Commission will be permitted to enter Japan initially. These will be selected on a quota basis, according to their prewar trade with Japan. The initial quota under these circumstances will permit only a few entries from Canada.

Among the products that may be exported from Japan are: ceramics and chinaware; bicycles; light bulbs; hardware; linen goods; rayon fabrics and finished

More than 400 saw the show during the afternoon, the officials reported.

News From Scotland

Deep in the Forest of Ae in Dumfriesshire, Scotland's Forestry Commission has started to build a model village—the first of its kind in the country. Before Mr. Tom Johnston, former secretary of state for Scotland, broke the turf there in a recent ceremony, the whole village had been completely designed by the Commission. The plans include shops, church, school, inn, and village hall as well as about 80 homes for forestry workers.

The Forest of Ae is a young forest. Before the Forestry Commission started work in 1927, most of the land was under sheep. There was little woodland except a few patches of oak and elder in some of the valleys. Today there are 3,000 acres of woodland, and 4,500 acres have yet to be planted. From 16 men, the number of full-time employees had increased to 27 at the outbreak of war, and it is estimated that by 1960 about 90 men will be needed all the year round on essential forest work. This does not take into account the numbers which will be required for saw milling, transport, and other jobs.

The building of the village was described by Mr. Johnston as an indication of the spirit with which Scotland was facing its problems. From the two per cent of timber now being produced in Scotland, Mr. Johnston looked forward to the day when a third of the country's needs would be supplied from home production. In five years they were determined to raise the employment figure from 2,000 to 8,000, and at the end of 50 years in Britain they expected to have 100,000 employees.

With no slumps and no gluts, afforestation offered good return for honest labor with a guarantee of employment for life.

Well-planned forest communities, such as Ae, may well provide one answer to Scotland's problem of rural depopulation. A suggestion that, on the completion of the village, a maypole should be erected is not without point, for this may be the first step in a return to a healthy community life. Ae is more than a model village in the making—it is a hopeful sign of portent.

Incidentally, the brevity of its name has been the cause of some comment and research. One newspaper columnist, recording a Dutch II, a Czech As, a French Ax, and a Siberian Ob, went on to report five Scottish lochs called Ba and a headland of the island of Islay called Os.

A "world title" might have been claimed for Iona, island burial-place of early Scottish kings, by the revival of its old name—I. But the risks of having an I and an Ae (pronounced I) in the same country are too obvious and the revival is unlikely.

EDINBURGH—YESTERDAY AND TODAY

Scots dramatist James Bridie, a Glasgow man, has been talking over the radio about Edinburgh. Discussing its importance as an artistic and cultural center in relation to the forthcoming International Festival, he has some witty and candid observations to make. Of this "romantic place blown upon by a savage east wind" he observed that almost every other street showed traces of a people passionately devoted to the arts in all their branches. The portraits that looked down from the National Gallery had nothing puritanical about them. They showed the faces of men soaked in philosophy, good music, good talk, and good claret, who lived in good houses and enjoyed themselves to the glory of God. Towards the end of the eighteenth century, the place was loaded down to the plimsoll with men and women of taste and even of genius. He once amused himself by picking a team of remarkable men who might have been perambulating Edinburgh during the 20 years between 1770 and 1790. He put that 20-year team up against the contemporary best of all the capitals of the world, and the Scotsmen gave a good account of themselves. Among them were David Hume, Robert Burns, Adam Smith, James Boswell, John Watt, John Hunter, the anatomist; Joseph Black, physicist; Walter Scott, Henry Raeburn, Macdonald, the road builder; Playfair, Allan Ramsay, the leathersmith Adam, and the brothers Paulis. When the 19th century began, Edinburgh grew so proud and haughty that nothing below the standard set by these astonishing men was good enough for her. She founded a school of criticism that blighted and withered the creative arts for hundreds of miles around. But man could not live by criticism alone, and the perfervid herogeneity of the Scots turned itself to feats of engineering, arms, and colonization. Edinburgh was left with the kirk, the law, and the practice of medicine. The arts became attenuated and scarcely

Corner on Sports

By AL CORMACK

If it hadn't been for the young lady I was with telling me that the Sidney Merchants were going to stage a rally in the seventh and knock the Enterprises for a loop last Wednesday at Memorial Park, I wouldn't have waited for the third batter to be fanned in the last inning, and the place that is said to have never frozen over certainly would have had a thick sheet of ice on it if I could have been coaxed to stay for the second game.

Not that the first game wasn't interesting, or that the second didn't give promise of being more so . . . I was cold; and some of the boys who broke the tape in the sprints during the afternoon would have had to be content with place money in my dash for home.

I am not blaming all my discomfort on the Sidney weather—far from it. Dressed in the briefest of brevities and a wartime suit that you could blow through, my first line of defense was very inadequate.

But talking about the sprints. Taking everything into consideration, the times were good considering they weren't run on a cinder track. The high jumps also, were good, but here again an inch or two might have been added had there been cinder approaches and the crowd kept back from the standards and the pit. And the fact that an entry has to hold up a jump so that he can compete in a track event isn't good for the competitor when he has to run about 100 yards to the starting point, enter the 100-yard dash, then run up to the jumping pit to compete against athletes who have been doing a little resting while he has been pulling his heart out to try and win a few more points. Tut, tut, officials!

Entries in the girls' high jump were very few, thus failing to produce the competition that is usually associated with this event . . . and we didn't see any of the competitors bursting a girdle in an effort to beat the winner. However, by the time another Sports Day rolls around there may be more of the young lovelies taking more interest in the jumps.

Some of those fellows who were tossing the horseshoes into the

No sports event is complete without some reference being made about the officials. Well, in this case it is going to be a bouquet. The officiating was up to scratch throughout. Running a track and field meet is a very difficult task but the boys were right on their toes and kept the events up to schedule. . . . No time wasted between the events, with the announcer giving the competitors plenty of notice about the race that was on deck.

All the above tirade, of course, is due to the fact that Yo Editor suggested that I pound out a few sport jottings now and again. Well, I really don't mind in the least, but if nobody tells me what is going on, how am I to know? . . . and besides, I am just a new arrival out here and haven't had time to get the hang of things as yet.

So . . . drop in and give us a little dope. Perhaps we will be able to give you a plug now and again.

DOMINION DAY

JULY 1st, 1947, Canada's national holiday will mark eighty years of democratic nationhood. The importance of the event is underlined now when the world is being drawn into an ideological battle between Christian democracy and Totalitarian dictatorship.

Dominion Day celebrates one of the most significant events in modern history. This nation, it is good to remember, was born out of statesmanship and teamwork, not of revolution and bloodshed.

In July, 1867, the Fathers of Confederation completed a long and difficult task in the forming of the Dominion of Canada.

They had sacrificed self-interest and sectional interest for the good of the whole country. In so doing they set a new standard for nation building.

It is now up to us, the ordinary men and women of Canada, to preserve this precious heritage and to build the Canada of tomorrow.

Wherever we live . . . in village or hamlet . . . or unorganized territory, we build good relationships or break them down.

It is the will of the ordinary men and women of the nation which will build the nation of the future. Ours is the task. In the peaceful field of an island in the Gulf . . . in the village, in the country store . . . our approach to the problems of everyday life moulds the character of the nation.

It is not the task of the law-makers in Ottawa; they are best guided by the expressed opinion of those who people this great land.

Let that expressed opinion be the outcome of sound, sane thought.

CORRESPONDENCE

"SANCTUARY ISLANDS?"

To the Editor,—In your last issue of the "Review," June 25 inst., I was greatly interested with the article, "Leisure Islands."

Apparently the author, in writing a popular interest book on the Gulf Islands, feels himself somewhat at a loss for an appropriate title.

The author has, it appears, taken great pains, also considerable industry, in seeking an attractive title for his book.

I felt rather disappointed that no one had mentioned or suggested the name "Sanctuary Islands." I believe a former lieutenant-governor of this province was instrumental in having the Gulf Islands set aside as a sheep sanctuary. I also am forced to believe that others, other than sheep, found sanctuary in these the Gulf Islands.

The writer of the article says: "They have included such good natured quibs as Goof, Goofy, etc." I wonder of those quibs were good-natured?

The word "Goof" is out. Those gentry have long since faded from the picture, and should there still be hangovers, they are away back in the tall sticks and cannot be seen from the school bus.

Sir, we on this island are hiking the pipe of progress. We have a consolidated school, grade and high school, modern stores, post offices, farmers, and women's institutes, athletic clubs, two flourishing beer parlors, inns, cafes, tea rooms, garages, land offices, sawmills, logging, fishing, and everything modernity calls for. We are even conventional, having six churches and three graveyards.

Today, with a great influx of home-seekers and home-builders, one is again reminded of the real meaning of "sanctuary." . . . Sanctuary from the hum and bustle of industry . . . sanctuary from high taxes, high cost of living . . . yes, and from the high cost of doing.

Sanctuary Islands? Well, I should smile.

R. J. CORNISH,
Pulford Harbour.

Do not hang heavy loads on pipes in the home. The pull may loosen joints, or strain supports.

The sun shone on Tuesday and the Weather Man gave us a sample of his best for the holiday.

At Canoe Cove there was much activity. The Power Boat Squadron, 15 boats strong, left about 9.30 a.m. for Long Harbour. On arrival everyone settled down to have lunch, then when everyone had recovered from this energetic proceeding, sports and competitions were held. These included a guessing contest to guess how many signalling flags "Ysidro" was carrying; a ladies' dinghy race; a men's thread-the-needle race with the men rowing ashore to thread the needle; and a tug of war between the Commodore's team and the Vice-Commodore's team.

Later, a dinghy parade took place when Norman Hill's "Infant Zanda" towed about 20 dinghies up Long Harbour and round the lagoon.

The boats returned to Canoe Cove in the evening after a most delightful day.

At Canoe Cove, left basking in the sunshine, many visitors arrived to fill up the vacant berths. Sidney Rodd and family arrived in "Choppy," "Tacita" and family called in from Tacoma; Mr. Genge arrived in his sloop which he bought from Mr. Rodd last year. Mr. Ball of Tacoma limped in in his new 40-foot Owens cruiser. She struck a deadhead about 100 miles out and damaged her starboard propeller. Emergency repairs were effected by Hugh Rodd and Bill Lamley and she slid down the ways about midnight and left again in the morning.

There is good news for the ladies of the neighbourhood. Mr. Rodd has installed a new shaper so we should all be able to keep our avoirdupois in good order!

Joking apart, this is a husky piece of equipment capable of surfacing the largest of cylinder heads, keyway cutting, etc., and should be a valuable asset to the community as it is the only machine of its type on the Saanich Peninsula.

CANOE COVE

By request we again reproduce this beautiful camera study of Canoe Cove.

Cmdr. Lindsay Cavieux, of the Canadian Navy, shown to the left of the picture, may be standing in the identical spot where the Spanish explorer, Manuel Quimper, stood in 1790. With Cmdr. Cavieux is Cecil French. Quimper laid claim to the Strait of Juan de Fuca in 1790. He wrote the following in his diary: "At three in the afternoon I had the longboat and one of the canoes armed, and embarked with the pilot, taking along the cross, for the purpose of taking possession of the farthest roadstead, which I named Valdez y Bazar. (This is now known as Royal Roads.) "At four in the afternoon I took possession, planted the cross, buried the bottle with all the other ceremonies with the instructions prescribed, and fired repeated salutes. "The Holy Cross was placed on a mesa which consists of a piece of land without any trees and bears W. 08 degrees N. (of the compass) from the point at the entrance to the roadstead. The bottle is buried at the back of the Holy Cross at the foot of a "pine" tree on which a cross was formed by cutting off the bark. This will distinguish it from five others close to it and the only ones in the neighborhood."

Patrolling The Arctic And The North-West Passage In The R.C.M.P. Ship "St. Roch"

By CAPT. HENRY LARSON

INSTALMENT I

I WILL here endeavour to tell the story of the R.C.M.P. "St. Roch," the little ship that twice made the North-West Passage—the first from Vancouver, B.C. to Halifax, N.S., 1940 to 1942, and also the return journey from Halifax, N.S., to Vancouver, B.C., during the summer of 1944.

The R.C.M.P. "St. Roch" has had an interesting career, having spent all her summers and 11 winters in the Arctic. Built in 1928 at the Burrard Shipyard, North Vancouver, B.C., especially for the R.C.M.P. Police, she has extra thick timbers of Douglas fir sheathed on the entire outside with Australian gumwood, sometimes called Ironbark, to resist the grinding pressure of icefloes. This floating detachment of the R.C.M.P. is 104 feet long, has a beam of 25 feet, and a draft of 13 feet when fully loaded. Diesel-powered, she was assigned to patrol the Canadian Arctic and to convey supplies to our various land detachments along the Arctic coast and islands. Besides this she was meant to winter in remote places. The crew are all members of the R.C.M.P., and we generally carry nine men.

Our first winter in the north, 1928-29, was spent at Langton Bay at the foot of Franklin Bay, and the following spring we returned to Vancouver. In 1930 we again left for the north, remaining there four years cruising in and around Coronation Gulf and westward as far as Herschel Island. After returning to Vancouver for a short period, we once more set sail for the Arctic in the spring of 1935, and the Cambridge Bay area became the St. Roch's field of operations for the next three winters, interrupted by a return voyage to Vancouver in 1937.

In 1939 we docked at the naval dockyard, Esquimalt, B.C., and the following spring we received one of our most important, and to my mind, most interesting assignments. Our commissioner, S. T. Wood, now informed us that when our regular duties along the western Arctic coast were completed, we were to proceed to Halifax, N.S., by way of the North-West Passage. On this trip we chose the southern passage; that is, eastward through Queen Maud Gulf, south of King William Island, then northward between Boothia Peninsula and the King Island coast, or, in other words, we used the same route as taken by Amundson in the "Gjøa," 1903-06, with the exception that we passed through Bell Strait instead of Peel Sound. This gave us the opportunity to visit the remote Eskimo tribes on Boothia Peninsula and the surrounding district. This voyage took us 28 months.

The summer of 1943 was spent in the eastern Arctic, leaving Halifax, N.S., on July 17 with a full load for our eastern Arctic detachments. We returned on October 16 the same year after a patrol of about 8,000 miles. We spent the winter of 1943-44 at Halifax undergoing repairs and having a 300-horsepower engine installed instead of our 150 so as to have more power for the coming voyage during the summer of 1944. Our instructions were to return to Vancouver via the northern or Lancaster Sound route. This had never before been completed. Many had tried in vain. The last one to try was the C.G.S. "Arctic" under Captain Bernier in 1910. Captain Bernier reached a point little beyond White Harbour on Melville Island, from where he was forced to return to Montreal. After our overhaul in Halifax was completed, we left on July 22, making a three-day stop at Sidney, N.S., for final check-ups,

We finally got under way, carried out our assignment work in the Arctic, and arrived in Vancouver, B.C., on July 16, 1944. Thus, for the first time in history, we became the only vessel to complete the northern routes both ways, and the only vessel that had completed the Lancaster Sound route, which is the better of the two. This route will no doubt be used in the future.

After laying up for a bit of overhaul in the naval dockyard, Esquimalt, B.C., during the winter, we again proceeded to the Arctic in the spring of 1945. We had instructions to winter at Cambridge Bay, where we arrived about the middle of September. Whilst there we acted as a wireless station and assisted the planes as a radio beacon supporting the Exercise Muskox. The men we met in connection with this force, both the moving force and the pilots, should be classed as among Canada's finest. We left Cambridge Bay August 11, 1946, and arrived at Vancouver on September 26, 1946, thus completing our eleventh winter.

I shall here take the opportunity to mention some of the duties of the R.C.M. Police in the Arctic territories of our great Dominion. Firstly, to uphold and enforce Canada's Sovereignty of her Arctic Islands; to act as administrators for the North-West Territories; Council; maintaining game laws; making general check-ups of Eskimos' living conditions; compiling vital statistics; authorizing the issuing of rations for the destitute, aged and infirm Eskimos; taking of census; settling of any disputes which might arise; conveying children to and from the residential schools at Akavik; and transferring sick Eskimos for treatment and hospitalization at Akavik. Sometimes we assist in securing suitable Eskimos, with their families, whom we transport from the Coronation Gulf area to the Mackenzie River Delta to learn to herd and look after the reindeer herd provided by the Canadian government for the Eskimos in that area.

The Eskimos in the Mackenzie River Delta and its immediate surroundings are now quite civilized, many of them owning small power-scooters and small frame houses. Most of them do quite well in trapping fur-bearing animals and therefore do not take as much interest in the reindeer herding as their less fortunate brethren in the Coppermine and Coronation Gulf areas. It is these latter people who, I think, will in the future receive the benefit from these herds; especially when the reindeer have multiplied to such an extent that they can be split into several smaller herds. They can then be transported eastward as far as the Coronation Gulf and Boothia Peninsula areas, where the Eskimos still live their primitive and nomadic existence in snowhouses during the winter, and tents during the summer months.

T. SIMS RECALLS FAMOUS STORY OF DOG'S DEFENCE

With the recent poisoning of several dogs in Sidney, T. Sims, Third Street, tells the following story of Senator Vest, of Missouri, U.S.A., who spoke for the common canine:

Senator Vest, of Missouri, was attending court in a country town, and while waiting for the trial of a case in which he was interested, he was urged by the attorneys in a dog case to help them. He was paid a fee of $250 by the plaintiff. Voluminous evidence was introduced to show that the defendant had shot the dog in malice, while the other evidence went to show that the dog had attacked the defendant. Vest took no part in the trial and was not disposed to speak. The attorneys, however, urged him to make a speech, else their client would not think he had earned his fee. Being thus urged, he arose, scanned the face of each jurymen for a moment and said:

"Gentlemen of the Jury: The best friend a man has in the world may turn against him and become his enemy. His son or daughter that he has reared with loving care may prove ungrateful. Those who are nearest and dearest to us, those whom we trust with our happiness and our good name may become traitors to their faith. The money that a man has he may lose. It flies away from him, perhaps, when he needs it most. A man's reputation may be sacrificed in a moment of ill-considered action. The people who are prone to fall on their knees to do us honor when success is with us may be the first to throw the stone of malice when failure settles its cloud upon our heads. The one absolutely unselfish friend that man can have in this selfish world, the one that never deserts him, the one that never proves ungrateful or treacherous, is his dog. A man's dog stands by him in prosperity and poverty, in health and sickness. He will sleep on the cold ground where the wintry winds blow and the snow drifts, and his body is laid away in the cold ground, no matter if all other friends pursue their way, there by the graveside will the noble dog be found, his head between his paws, his eyes sad, but open in alert watchfulness, faithful and true even in death."

Senator Vest sat down. He had spoken in a low voice, without any gesture. He made no reference to the evidence or the merits of the case. When he finished, judge and jury were wiping their eyes. The jury returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $500. He had sued for $200.

CAPT. LARSEN LEAVES FOR FAR NORTH IN RCMP ST. ROCH

The staunch 104-foot R.C.M.P. patrol vessel St. Roch left last week outward bound for Arctic waters. Under the command of Capt. Henry Larsen, the crew of 12 will be away from civilization for two years, returning from Coronation Gulf after spending a winter in northern ice. Capt. Larsen has won fame for his trips through the northwest passage, both eastward and westward. Capt. Larsen, an inspector in the R.C.M.P., wears the coveted white ribbon of the Polar medal for his explorations. He also holds the Patrons' medal of the Royal Geographical Society. Sailing in the St. Roch on her northern voyage were the following:

Captain Henry Larsen, Corp. L. P. Pearo, Corp. G. L. Coffin, chief engineer; Special Const. R. T. Johnsen, second engineer; Special Const. W. M. Cashin; Const. G. K. Sargent, wireless operator; Const. T. Auchterlonie, Const. M. G. Duffy, Const. W. V. Coolen, Const. J. V. Margetts, Const. M. S. Smith and Const. P. W. Jones, cook.

B.C. ACCELERATES DRIVE AGAINST "SHACK TOWNS"

The Provincial Government's drive against mushroom "shack towns" on the outdoor fringe of municipalities was accelerated this week by the signing of orders-in-council ratifying regulations to set up a control area in unorganized territory surrounding Vernon.

At the same time new regulations, replacing the original set put into force last year, were brought down to govern the Kelowna control area, proving ground for the plan of control approved by the Legislature at the 1946 session.

However, the new rules will not become operative until after public hearings have been held in Vernon and Kelowna.

They will be enforced by inspectors in each of the two centres with right of appeal to boards to consist of the Government agent, a member of the city council, and three land owners.

The regulations give wide powers to medical health officers and inspectors of the control area to require buildings that do not meet standards for human occupation to be brought up to standard or demolished.

They apply to new building undertakings in the controlled area regulations much the same as those governing building within municipal boundaries.

Lands within the controlled areas will be zoned, and minimum size of subdivisions to be allowed will be 60 by 100 feet in residential areas, 30 by 100 feet in commercial or industrial zones, and two acres in rural areas, unless the appeal board allows a smaller acreage.

In structural details and plumbing installations, buildings must comply with the building code of the National Research Council.

New regulations for Kelowna repeal those of October last, and embrace changes found necessary after eight months' operation.

Only half of all homes in Canada have a private bath or shower.

Only one in eight Canadian farm homes are equipped with inside running water.

Mrs. H. Pratt of Deep Cove Chalet was happily surprised by her staff on Monday, June 30, when they served a birthday tea for her. The difficulties of presented to Mrs. Pratt by the party which included Mrs. F. Simpson, Mrs. R. Vellacott, Mrs. T. Stock-

ford, Mr. T. Fisher, Mr. and Mrs.

D. B. GORDON

McLeod Lumsden Motors Ltd., of 865 Yates Street, announce the appointment of D. B. Gordon as service manager for the big de-partmentalized auto repair shops they maintain. Mr. Gordon brings to his work some 26 years of practical experience in the automotive field. Commencing as a practical mechanic he became well-known through his connection with Begg Motors in Vancouver where he was associated with Chrysler products from 1930 until the outbreak of war.

In addition to the specialized knowledge of Plymouth, Chrysler and Fargo Trucks, which lines
McLeod-Lumsden Motors repre-

Establishment of a system of circuit magistrates to improve the administration of justice in outlying parts of British Columbia is under consideration by the Hon. G. S. Wismer, K.C., attorney-general.

Mr. Wismer stated that Magistrate H. S. Wood, Vancouver, will visit Alberta shortly and will make a study of the circuit system in operation there. He will make a report to Mr. Wismer on its operation, and its possible application to British Columbia.

Under a circuit system the province government would appoint lawyers as travelling magistrates who would visit various centres to handle the more important cases. Minor infractions could be dealt with by the local justice of the peace.

UNRRA CONTRACTS
British Columbia has received UNRRA contracts for fish and fish products to a total of more than $9,500,000, the Hon. L. H. Eyles, minister of trade and industry announced last week. The new allocations are part of what has been described as a "Post UNRRA" program. The value of contracts placed in British Columbia on behalf of UNRRA has reached a total of nearly $13,000,000.

Mr. Eyles also announced that a sample shipment of seed potatoes from British Columbia have recently arrived in Peru. They were received in good condition and were sent to the northern section of Peru for planting on experimental basis by the ministry of agriculture there.

This experiment may open up a new outlet for seed potatoes from British Columbia.

P.G.E. RAILWAY SUPERINTENDENT

He will be succeeded by J. W. Miller, Vancouver. Mr. Quick, who lives at Squamish, is widely known up and down the P.G.E. line from the terminus there to Quessnel, and has been with the railway almost since it started operating.

News From Scotland

Of Edinburgh today, Bridie said it had the appearance of having laid fallow for several years. The soil, however, was still there, and what magnificent soil it was! When the fiddles tuned up this August, they might be playing in a new era. The immediate results of the Edinburgh Festival would delight them, and the remote results surprise them.

HISTORIC GIFT TO THE NATION

"You look down a great height, all wooded on both sides; the Garry rolling below it. I cannot describe how beautiful it is."

So wrote Queen Victoria, more than 100 years ago, of the Pass of Killiecrankie, which has been given to the National Trust for Scotland. Scenic splendor and historical associations have combined to make Killiecrankie one of Scotland's show-places; it is on the "must-be-visited" list of the majority of tourists.

It was through the Pass that in 1689 General Mackay led 4,000 of William III's troops to meet John Graham of Claverhouse (Bonnie Dundee). The soldiers, English and Dutch, were far from pleasantly impressed by the scenery. In fact, they were struck with awe and fear. On the rise above Urrard, the armies came in sight of each other. The military shout of Mackay's men "made but a dull and sullen sound compared to the yell of the Highlanders, which rung far and shrill from all the hills around them." The Highlanders swept down their enemies "like twigs before a spate," and left only half of them alive. Their triumph would have been complete had not Dundee himself been mortally wounded.

Within a short distance of the view that inspired a Queen's admiring comment is the Soldier's Leap, where the rocks on each side of the Garry come to within 11 feet of each other, and where, according to tradition, one of General Mackay's soldiers leaped to safety.

COMMUNITY CENTRES FOR ALL

Castles, mansion-houses, and down the scale to hut encampments—all are grist to the mill of community life in the Scottish countryside. This matter of communal interests in the smaller towns and villages is receiving very close attention from the experts in education as well as in social planning, and it has been through the publicity of their schemes have received that gifts of country houses have been made to forward the interests of such areas. Owners of castles and large mansions in several districts, having found these residences too expensive to maintain, have presented them for conversion to community centers. These public-spirited acts have been done in parts of the country as widely separated as the Orkney Islands in the north, where a lovely old place, Gerimont House, Isle of Sanday, is being prepared for the use of the community, and the Pantiles Hotel, West Linton, in the Border county of Peebles. In the new housing estate of House-hillwood, on the fringe of Glasgow, much needed facilities for community activities have been provided, while in Kirkwall, chief town of the Orkney Islands, the wartime premises of Toe H. and in Aberdeenshire a camp formerly occupied by the Royal Air Force, and an army barracks, have all been acquired for similar purposes. Other examples of houses acquired, either by gift or by purchase, are Craigston Castle (Aber-deenshire), Pirn House (Peebles-shire), Islesburgh House, Ler-wick (Shetlands), and Strove House, Skelmorlie (Ayrshire). By the Education (Scotland) Act of 1945, community centers and village halls were brought within the scope of the education service in Scotland. Although the Act did not prejudice the powers of other local bodies, whether statutory or voluntary, to own and manage such centers, it laid upon education authorities the duty to secure an adequate provision, within their areas, of facilities for social, recreational and informal educational activities. The plan, therefore, is that in each small locality there will be a community center which will offer, within easy and immediate access of the homes of the people, opportunities for commonly-pursued social and recreational interests. Those "neighborhood" centers will be able only to a limited extent to cater for the more specialized subjects and there will generally be the province of district centers, each of which will serve a group of "neighborhood" centers. At still higher levels, county and regional centers will be required to provide for those interests and activities, such as festivals, conferences and training courses for which people would be prepared to travel a considerable distance. Despite the attention which is being given to this long-term planning and despite the impossibility of erecting new community center buildings, immediate needs are not being neglected. A complementary development is taking place in the mining areas where a campaign is under way to widen the range and appeal of Miners' Welfare Institutes so that these buildings, erected at various times in the course of the last 20 years, can discharge more adequately the functions of community centers. Scotland, in planning her future, is scanning far horizons, but she is not unmindful of the needs and opportunities closer at hand.

Second City of the Common-wealth, and the street derives its name from the city's association in the 18th century with the American tobacco plantations. When he left school, Sir Hector went to an engineering works in the ward to serve his apprenticeship, and some years later he sent him to represent it on the Town Council of Glasgow. Sir Hector's life has been spent on the river. He is obviously fond of it. And his success in persuading the admiralty to send the Home Fleet to the Clyde in July during the Glasgow Fair holiday week, so that the men who helped to build it can show it off to their wives and children, has given him more satisfaction than anything else he has done during the 18 months he has been in office.

Sir Hector is a Clyde engineer, and takes a craftsman's pleasure in the products of the yards on the Clyde. But during the depression he found himself in the wholesale paint business, and he is now a partner in one of the largest establishments in Scotland. He has, therefore, an interest both in the crafts and in commerce. A large man in every sense, with a broad sense of humor, he has been a conspicuous success as Lord Provost, yet he has not confined his interest in narrow channels. A stout defender of Glasgow, he yet insists on the broad view, and, as the chairman of the Scottish Council (Development and Industry) and a prominent member of the Scottish Tourist Board, he never forgets the principle that Glasgow cannot be industrially healthy in a wasting Scotland.

Sir Hector is a man of the people, and the people recognize him as one of themselves.

Sir Hector is a man of the people, and the people recognize him as one of themselves.

TELEPHONE SUPPLY SITUATION STILL GRIM

Plans call for the expenditure of millions of dollars within the next few years on telephone expansion in B.C. But it is frequently necessary to change the program to fit the supply situation. For this reason, the present telephone situation is not a happy one. Efforts are being made against all sorts of odds to get the telephone system back to normal. Progress is being made, but it must be admitted that it will be a considerable time before the goal is reached. In the meantime, the B.C. Telephone Company and Associated Companies wish to express their appreciation for the understanding and patience shown by the public.

DEFEND RADIO SOAP OPERAS
 Radio soap operas and singing commercials are defended warmly by Edgar Kobak, president of the Mutual Broadcasting System.
 He asserted before a Senate commerce subcommittee last week that the folks who criticize daytime serials as "silly soap operas" and "perpetual emotion" have never actually listened to them long enough to find out what they're about.
 As for singing commercials, the network head said:
 "Whether you like them or not,
 I must confess that I consider some of them to be clever and definitely amusing, they are certainly entirely harmless."
 Mr. Kobak said that if they ever became objectionable to any substantial part of the listening public, there is no doubt they will disappear.
 Mr. Kobak was one of two network presidents who testified before the committee, which is considering an almost complete revision of the Federal Communications Law.
 Both he and Frank Stanton, president of the Columbia Broadcasting System, insisted that radio has grown up and should be "as free as the press."
 Mr. Stanton said radio-casting now is only half-free, and Mr.
 Kobak complained that the Federal Communications Commission is exercising "unwarranted control" over the stations' programs and business practices.

DID YOU KNOW THAT . . .
 — Mashed potatoes stay piping hot if kept in a double boiler with water just below boiling.
 — A thimble placed over the curtain rod will prevent tearing hems when rehanging curtains.
 — Fabric dress belts won't fray if both edges are painted with colorless nail polish.
 — Pour water over hot, used fat
 after placing it in container;
 burned food particles will sink and clear fat will rise to top.
 — Dipping your hands in salt before handling fish will prevent the odor from clinging.
 To avoid discoloring sinks and basins when a tap is dripping, drape a cloth from the faucet to the drain until the washer can be replaced.
